The Builders.

All are architects of Fate,
Working in these walls of Time;
Some with massive deeds and great,
Some with ornaments of rhyme.

Nothing useless is and low;
Each thing in its place is best;
And what seems but idle show
Strengthens and supports the rest.

For the structure that we raise,
Time is with material filled;
Our to-days and yesterdays
Are the blocks with which we build.

Truly shape and fashion these;
Leave no yawning gaps between;
Think not, because no man sees,
Such things will remain unseen.

In the days of elder Art,
Builders wrought with greatest care
Each minute and unseen part;
For the gods see everywhere.

Let us do our work as well,
Both the unseen and the seen;
Make the house, where gods may dwell,
Beautiful and clean.

Else our lives are incomplete,
Standing in these walls of Time,
Broken stairways where the feet
Stumble as they seek to climb.

Build to-day, then, strong and sure,
With a firm and ample base;
And ascending and secure
Shall to-morrow find its place.

Thus alone can we attain
To those turrets, where the eye
Sees the world as one vast plain,
And one boundless reach of sky.

[Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.]

George H. Donham, Master.

Frank L. Mooney, Senior Warden.

Samuel R. Crabtree, Secretary.

Commandery Notes.

Trinity Commandery of Augusta, on August 16th, entertained Richard Cœur de Lion Preceptory of Montreal, Sussex Preceptory of Sherbrooke, and Dunlap Commandery of Bath. The second regiment in camp there escorted the Templars, making a very fine procession. In the afternoon the visitors were taken to Togus, where they reviewed the veterans at the Soldiers Home, 1100 in line. In the evening there was a banquet at City Hall. Toasts were responded to by Governor Hill, David L. Carley, Supreme Grand Master of Canada, Will H. Whyte, Grand Chancellor, our own Grand Officers and other distinguished guests.

On August 17th, Bradford Commandery entertained the Canadian visitors at Biddeford, giving them a dinner at Hotel Thatcher followed by a reception at Masonic Hall. In the evening there was given a banquet at Hotel Fiske, Old Orchard.

ST. AMAND. The new commandery at Kennebunk made its first appearance in public at the public service in memory of President McKinley, and the following notice shows what their townsmen thought of it:

St. Amand Commandery of Knights Templar of Kennebunk presented a handsome appearance in the parade yesterday. No body of men ever presented a finer appearance or more imposing spectacle than did this recently organized commandery in their well-fitting handsome and brilliant new uniforms. They are an honor to our town and richly deserve all the favorable comments made upon their appearance. They were ably led by their Eminent Commander, Almon J. Smith. [Kennebunk News.]

Books, Papers, etc.

—The Cosmopolitan for October is full of entertaining fiction. Thomas A. Janvier, for some time not seen in the magazines, reappears in The Cosmopolitan with a Mexican story of love and adventure, "Forfeit to the Gods." Bret Harte, whose "condensed novels," won him so much fame, contributes a side-splitting parody of Hall Caine's "The Christian," Irving Bacheller writes a short sketch of a little New York inn, "The Shadow of Happiness," E. W. Kemble tells a short humorous story of "How the Buzzards Worked a Spell," while Clara Morris's love story reveals her as an accomplished writer, capable of analyzing and sympathizing with man's deepest emotions. Cosmopolitan, Irvington, N. Y., $1 a year, 10c. a number.

—Maine Register for 1901-2. As usual the year book increases in size, having gained 24 pages this year. The postal authorities say that it stands at the head of all the states as a year book and we think it must. The results of the census of 1900 are given and it is very interesting reading, especially regarding some of the country towns which have been running down for half a century in population. That is not always a loss, for some of the fine old towns, while they lose in population become richer in valuation and more desirable for residence.

The population of each state for 1900 is included, a thing which we have been waiting for with interest.

The business directory of the 425 towns and 20 cities of Maine is made up to date, and this is the most valuable part of the book, and one which requires infinite labor. Granville M. Donham, Publisher, 390 Congress St., Portland. Price $2.00.

—Department of Labor. Col. Carroll D. Wright, commissioner, has favored us with his 15th annual report, 2 vols., discussing wages in commercial countries.

Bulletin 35, for July, treating of co-operative communities and the Negro Landholder in Georgia.

—Bulletin 36 for September, treats of Statistics of Cities. It gives much information which will be useful to those who invest in City bonds.

MINNESOTA. The Grand Chapter, Oct. 8th, elected Charles H. Brinsmaid of Minneapolis, G. H. Priest, and Thomas Montgomery of St. Paul, Gr. Sec. Exalted 317; members in 63 chapters 5,396.

The Grand Council Oct. 7th, elected Henry M. Tusler of St. Paul, Gr. Master, and Thomas Montgomery Gr. Recorder. Seven Councils, 657 members, 20 candidates.

Dirigo Lodge of Masons at Week's Mills is rightly named. It not only leads, but is far in advance of the procession, at least so far as "staying" qualities are concerned, and respecting other excellent masonic attributes it has long been known to be richly endowed. The meeting of Dirigo Lodge on the night of Sept. 23 was visited for inspection by District Deputy G. M., Thos. H. Bodge, of this city, accompanied by John V. Lane. A large attendance of members and a super-abundance of work was what they found. Beginning a little after 9 o'clock in the evening there was a stated meeting, two candidates were balloted upon and accepted, two were worked in the E. A. degree and another one in the third degree. By this time the moon was preparing to retire and the members retired to an appetizing collation. Following this came the annual election, in which there was much interest, resulting in the choice of Mr. A. D. Miller, the well known and popular stage driver, between this city and Week's Mills, as Master. At 3.45 A. M., it was proposed that the district deputy install the officers. This was done and the lodge was not dismissed till quarter before 5 o'clock. A half hour later, by the dawn's early light, a prominent member of the lodge might have been seen being escorted home by his better half, who, worried at his long absence, had harnessed the horse he had left at home and set out to find him. It is barely possible that as she rode along in the eager nipping air she brooded over the injustice of those who have nothing but ridicule for the management of women's societies and admiration for those of superior man.—[Kennebec Journal]

The following lodges pay $1 or $2 a year, receiving 11 and 22 copies of the Token respectively, to distribute to the members who are promptest in attendance:

Ancient Babylon.

Interesting Ruins Uncovered by the Excavators.

For two years and more the German Orientgesellschaft, with Professor Fried. Deltzsch as leading savant, in conjunction with the Berlin Royal Museums, has been conducting important archaeological researches on the site of ancient Babylon, the work itself being in charge of the experienced Dr. Koldewey. Interesting finds have been made, the latest being that the historical estimate of the size of the ancient city based upon the reports of Herodotus must be materially revised and reduced. According to the account of that historian Babylon must have covered a square from 65 to 90 kilometers, or the equal of Paris and London put together, or five times the size of Berlin with city walls as high as the Kaiser Wilhelm Memorial church tower and fully ten meters thick. The diggings of the German archaeological expedition have shown that a careful tracing of the ancient walls reduces this phenomenal length to about 15 kilometers, or a space considerably smaller than the city of Berlin alone. Paul Rohrbach, who in a recent issue of the Preussische Jahrbucher has described these matters in detail, declares that the remarkable thing is not that accurate investigation has made this change of estimate necessary, but that the wild statements of Herodotus have so far been blindly credited.

The two most important finds made on the ground have been in the "Ksar," or Castle, and the Amram ibn Ali mounds. The former includes the remnants of the great palace of Nebuchadnezzar, in which also Alexander the Great died. The whole is a citadel, and is mentioned frequently in Babylonian texts as Shu-ana. It was from its gates that each New Year's day the great festival procession, in honor of Marduk, proceeded, in which the kings also had to participate, unless he was willing to forfeit the right of being called "The King of Babylon." In Amram ibn Ali, no doubt, is to be found the main temple of Babylon, Esagila. What is called Babylon in the inscription of Nebuchadnezzar is evidently not the city of that name but the Acropolis together with the palace and the fortifications. It is now thought that the mound Babil comprises the ruins of the so-called hanging gardens of Semiramis, and that the "Tower of Babel" stood near to the Marduk temple in Esagila.

The investigations so far justify the hope that further diggings will lay bare at least in outline the foundations of many or most of the great structures in Babylon, and the city with the magnificent buildings of Nebuchadnezzar will be partially restored to the scholar of Orientalia. Of Ksar it can already be stated that it was one of the grandest buildings the world has ever seen, the thickness of its walls being from 11 to 13 and even 17 meters, and the great eastern wall being even 41 meters in thickness. Specially significant are the extraordinary inner decorations, consisting of painted and glazed tiles, the fragments of which are still found in great abundance, representing a kind of work that can no longer be reproduced or imitated.—[The Outlook.]

Bro. Frederic Speed, of Vicksburg, has been appointed acting Grand Secretary of the Grand Lodge of Mississippi.

Law of Territorial Jurisdiction.

A document having an important bearing upon this matter has been published during the year by Bro. W. J. Chetwode Crawley, of Ireland, in the "Masonic Voice and Review," and copied into the "Trestle Board" for September, 1900.

He takes it from the archives of the Grand Lodge of Ireland, and it purports to be an "International Compact" adopted by the representatives of the Grand Lodges of Ireland, Scotland and England after the union of the Grand Lodges in 1813, at a conference held in 1814.

Bro. Crawley is so eager in his argument in support of his own views, that it is difficult to get at the precise historical facts which led to the conference. But it was held, and they came to eight resolutions unanimously, which were to be reported to the several Grand Lodges for confirmation. The Grand Lodge of Ireland did confirm them and it is presumed that the others did, though that seems not to be known, and, so far as appears, the document had never before been printed.

The fourth article is as follows:

"4th. That each Grand Lodge shall preserve its own limits, and no warrant shall be granted or revived by any one of these parties for the holding of a lodge within the jurisdiction of either of the others. That in case any one of their respective Military Lodges, being in the course of service resident, for a time, within the limits of either of the others, it shall continue to make its return to its own Grand Lodge, but shall be recognized, visited and have the rights of visitation and intercourse with the regular lodges where it may happen to be; it being understood, and positively stipulated and enacted, that no such Military Lodge shall initiate, pass or raise any person or brother who does not actually belong to the battalion or regiment to which the said lodge is confined; and, further, that the present practice, with respect to lodges established in distant parts under either of the three Grand Lodges, shall continue on the present footing."

It will be noted that, so far as it goes, this is the precise doctrine which has been supposed to be of American origin and in force only in this country. It will be further noted that each Grand Lodge then had "its own limits," showing conclusively that the doctrine had been previously recognized by them all and acted upon. This is sustained by history: we have been unable to find that the Grand Lodge of England, Ireland or Scotland established a lodge in the territory of either of the others for many years before 1814, if in fact such a thing was ever done.

Bro. Crawley thus comments:

"The resolution dealing with military lodges is peculiarly interesting to Irish Freemasons. The first Military Warrant ever issued came from the Grand Lodge of Ireland in 1732, and the succession of Irish Military Warrants outnumbered those of all other Constitutions put together. The earliest regulations dealing with Army Lodges are to be found in the Irish Code of 1768, and incidentally contained the first attempt at limiting the jurisdiction of each Grand Lodge to its own country. The doctrine of exclusive and perpetual jurisdiction is carried to such an outrageous extent by some American Grand Lodges that it must be a sore blow to them to find that the limits of jurisdiction are really based on mere convenience, and that the first hint of any such legislation dates from the Irish Regulations of 1768."

He gives no copy of that 1768 regulation, so we are unable to determine how far it goes in the direction indicated: especially whether it relates wholly to army lodges, and so is a recognition of the law of jurisdiction and an enactment applying to Army Lodges, or is a general enactment; his statement of it, however, indicates very clearly that it was the former.

But the following extract from the fifth article settles the question:

"And the Grand Secretaries having laid before this assembly a letter from a person of the name of 'A. Seton,' describing himself as 'the Deputy Grand Secretary' of the society calling themselves 'the Ulster Grand Lodge,' which has been set up without the sanction or authority of the Grand Lodge of Ireland, it was unanimously resolved and agreed that members from Ireland, holding and possessing certificates from the Grand Lodge of which his grace the Duke of Leinster is the present Grand Master, can alone be admitted to any Lodge of Fraternity of Masons holding of the three Grand Lodges, or be entitled to relief from the funds of any one of them; it being the practice and invariable law that there can be but one Grand or Mother Lodge holden in each of the three countries: and that no assembly, convocation, meeting or lodge, called or held in any place within the jurisdiction of either of the three established Grand Lodges without their several warrants will be recognized or suffered to exist, the same being contrary to the Ancient Laws and Constitutions of the Fraternity."

"There can be but one Grand or Mother Lodge holden in each of the three countries."

"No assembly, convocation, meeting or lodge called or held in held in any place within the jurisdiction of either of the three established Grand Lodges, without their several warrants, will be recognized or suffered to exist."

But why?

"THE SAME BEING CONTRARY TO THE ANCIENT LAWS AND CONSTITUTIONS OF THE FRATERNITY."

But the idea of territorial jurisdiction of masonic bodies existed, and was acted upon, before 1768. The original jurisdiction of masonic bodies was wholly personal: the theoretical idea of masonic government was that there should be only one Grand Master for all the craft: and when the Grand Lodge system was adopted, that there should be but one Grand Lodge. But that idea soon gave way to necessity. It was found practically that it was impossible for one Grand Lodge to be the sole governing Body of the craft. Then the system of Provincial Grand Lodges was invented and adopted. With that system came (and necessarily came), for the first time, the idea of territorial jurisdiction of masonic bodies. Every Provincial Grand Master was appointed for certain territory, and so far as his Grand Lodge was concerned, he had exclusive jurisdiction in that territory. Beyond question, the organization of the Grand Lodges of Ireland and Scotland grew out of the same idea: the fact of their organization and their names conclusively establish this. Of course Grand Lodges are the peers of each other. When governing Bodies, the peers of each other, have a particular territorial jurisdiction, it is a principle of natural law that no one of them shall interfere in the territory of another, but that each has exclusive jurisdiction in its own territory. This principle was first asserted (so far as we know) as applicable to Grand Lodges by Massachusetts Grand Lodge in 1782, and, as we have seen, it was expressly recognized by the Representatives of the three British Grand Lodges in 1814, and apparently expressly confirmed by all those Grand Lodges; and, moreover, declared in effect to be prescribed by "the Ancient Laws and Constitutions of the Fraternity." While we have not the means of ascertaining the location of all the lodges chartered by these Grand Lodges, we have gone far enough to justify the belief that no lodge has been established within the "limits" of either of these Grand Lodges, save by the Grand Lodge of the jurisdiction, since it was organized; and that neither of them had done what, in 1814, they all declared to be "contrary to the Ancient Laws and Constitutions of the Fraternity."

What Bro. Crawley means by "the doctrine of exclusive and perpetual jurisdiction," we do not know, and cannot even guess: it is sufficient to say that no such doctrine prevails in any American jurisdiction. The difference between the doctrine of the British Grand Lodges and that of the American Grand Lodges is not great: all agree that no Grand Lodge can do or authorize to be done, any masonic act within the territory of another Grand Lodge: the American Grand Lodges hold further, that no Grand Lodge has the right to make a mason of a resident of another jurisdiction, and send him back there to enjoy masonic privileges; they claim that this comes within the rule, and that it is practically doing a masonic act within the jurisdiction of another Grand Lodge; the Grand Lodge of England, while not attempting to answer the reason, contents itself by saying that it has never restricted its lodges in respect to the residence of their candidates; almost all the Grand Lodges in the Dependencies of the Crown recognize and enforce the former doctrine, and we believe that the time is coming when the British Grand Lodges will do the same.

Replying to our brother's suggestion as to "the sore blow," we can assure him that he has no need to lose any sleep in sympathizing with his American brethren upon the effects of it: for instead of finding "that the limits of jurisdiction are really based on mere convenience," we find that he has discovered and brought to light an express recognition of the law of territorial jurisdiction by the British Grand Lodges nearly fifty years earlier than any previously known; has produced conclusive evidence that they had practically recognized that law previously, and in all probability from the date of the respective organizations of the two younger of them; and, best of all, their express declaration that an act in violation of this law is "CONTRARY TO THE ANCIENT LAWS AND CONSTITUTIONS OF THE FRATERNITY."

Bro. Crawley has "builded better than he knew"; and in behalf of his American brethren, we tender him the congratulations and thanks which he has so justly earned.—[Drummond's Lodge Corr., 1901.]

MAINE MASONIC TEXT BOOK.

By JOSIAH H. DRUMMOND, P. G. M.

In cloth, Library Edition, by mail, $1.40
In leather tuck, for pocket, 1.50

Every craftsman studying the work needs the new edition for the changes in the monitorial.

Every Master needs the new edition for the latest decisions regarding masonic law.

Brethren in other jurisdictions will find this invaluable, because it contains the best exposition of masonic law by the ablest masonic jurist in the world.

Secretaries should instantly report the election of officers, if they have not done so, that communications, &c., may be sent to the proper addresses.

Any lodge officer or member of the Grand Lodge can obtain a copy of the Constitution by remitting the postage, a three cent stamp, to the Grand Secretary.

Any member of the Grand Chapter can obtain the Constitution of that body in the same way.

At the funeral of President McKinley the Masonic Fraternity was recognized, and all over the country masonic bodies have had memorial services and gone into mourning. Although he never was an active member he always honored the Craft, and met them cordially.

The New York Standard asks why we call Drummond's statistics "1901" when the report of New York is a year old. Because they are prepared and published in 1901, and that was the latest footing received when the table was prepared. Moreover, in the proceedings of New York for 1901, page 182 of the Correspondence, precisely the same figures are given. They cannot expect us to be more enterprising than their own Correspondent.

Bro. William A. Davies favors us with his report on correspondence to the Grand Lodge of California. As usual it is full of good things. Reviewing Maine, he says:

"Bro. Drummond also submitted a report on the correspondence between the Masonic Board of Relief of Oakland and "Eggemoggin" Lodge concerning a demand made by the Secretary of said Board for relief furnished Bro. Charles Atwood Dean, a member of said "Eggemoggin" Lodge, while sick and destitute under the jurisdiction of said Board in Oakland.

"We see no good to come from the agitation of this case. It is the old question, the application of the Wisconsin plan, approved by our Grand Lodge and the opponents of that plan represented here by Bro. Drummond.

"We believe fully in the doctrine that a lodge should care for its own members wherever they may be, and think that in this case "Eggemoggin" Lodge should have sold its jewels and paid for the care of their brother in what proved to be his last illness, and his subsequent burial expenses."

Grand Lodge.

A special communication of the Grand Lodge was held at Millinocket, August 1st, at which Grand Master Alfred S. Kimball, assisted by J. G. Warden Adelbert Millett, D. D. G. M. George A. Gorham, Jr., Gr. Marshall Bial F. Bradbury, Grand Tyler Warren O. Carney, and other brethren as pro tem. officers, constituted Nollesemic Lodge, No. 205, and installed its officers, as follows:

Charles J. MacNutt,	Master.
George W. Stearns,	Senior Warden.
Harry E. Reed,	Junior Warden.
Wm. J. Heebner,	Sec.

A banquet was given later at the Great Northern Hotel.

On August 14th, the Grand Master laid the corner stone of the new City Building, at Waterville, assisted by D. G. M. Burnham, Junior Gr. Warden Millett, District Deputies John M. Webber and Willis W. Washburn, Gr. Marshal Bradbury, Grand Chaplain Gibson, Sen. Gr. Deacon Kingsley, and other brethren as pro tem. officers. A banquet at the Elmwood Hotel followed, provided by Waterville Lodge. That lodge and St. Omer Commandery escorted the procession.

On August 22d the Grand Master constituted Mount Abram Lodge, No. 204, at Kingfield, assisted by Warren O. Carney, Grand Tyler, and other well known brethren as pro tem. officers.

On the following day, August 23d, he dedicated the Hall of Mount Bigelow Lodge at Flagstaff, assisted by many of the same brethren. He writes regarding them:

Kingfield is a busy, thriving town to look upon, as evidenced by the new buildings and those in process of construction. Paint, well mown lawns, a good water service, and a general appearance of prosperity pervade the place. There were at least one hundred and seventy-five brethren in attendance, (and some set the number much higher), from Wilton, Farmington, Strong, North Anson, Madison and a few from several other places; and all seemed intensely interested in what to most of them was an interesting and novel service.

At Flagstaff the services were of a semi-public nature, open to masons and their families, and patronized by masons from as wide an extent as at Kingfield; not as numerous attended, but fully as many as could be well cared for.

Here, as at Kingfield, not a slip was made, and many of course witnessed the service for the first and probably the only time in their lives. This is a historical spot. The fine little hotel, at which we were entertained, stands on the original site of Arnold's camping ground on the Quebec expedition, and the tall pine upon which he hung out the Colonial flag, from which the place takes its name, stood from two to three rods from the corner of the hotel, which was erected by the late Miles Standish of Flagstaff, the seventh in descent from the original Myles. The former has a grandson and nephew still living there, both members of the lodge. Also nieces who are members of the "Eastern Star." Now and then people plow up a bullet, and in course of time two or three old muskets and other relics of the ill-fated expedition. A large mountain looms up a little way distant, which Major Bigelow, of the Continental Army climbed to see if he could see Quebec and the St. Lawrence.

RED CROSS OF CONSTANTINE.—The Supreme Grand Chapter met in Milwaukee, Sept. 16th and re-elected all the officers. The revised Constitution was ordered to be printed. The next annual meeting will be at Providence, R. I., Sept. 16, 1902, when the new Constitution will be acted upon.

ERCANBRACK.—The proceedings of the Grand Commandery of Iowa, come with the report on correspondence by Thomas R. Ercanbrack, completed and sent in just before his death. It is full of genial sayings and bits of lovely verse like all his reports.

He commences—"It is with joy and gladness that your Committee on Fraternal Correspondence appears before you with a report in his hand filled with good tidings and expressions of exultation. * * * * * Those of our Companions who are wrapping their robes about them and lying down to pleasant dreams leave splendid records of good deeds well done. They leave behind them on the sands of time such—

"Footprints, that perhaps another,

Sailing o'er life's solemn main,

Some forlorn and shipwrecked brother,

Seeing, may take heart again!"

Death came to him suddenly, while on a journey, but we may well believe that it came not as a grim monster but as a starry-eyed angel to lead him into a brighter and happier land.

HOWARD LODGE.—We have received from Bro. John H. Baker, Secretary, the history of Howard Lodge, No. 69, at Winterport, from 1890 to 1900, by Bro. Fred C. Atwood. It fills fifteen pages, royal octavo, and completes the history in print from the organization in 1851.

The Grand Commandery of New York at Binghamton, Sept. 24th, elected Erastus C. Delavan, of Binghamton, Gr. Commander, and Arthur MacArthur, of Troy, Gr. Recorder.

Bro. D. E. Seymour, of Calais, P. G. M. of the Grand Council, was again stricken with severe illness, July 18th, on account of the excessive heat. He has now been ill for six years by a series of accidents and maladies.

The sixteenth annual of the Veterans of Illinois will be held at the hospitable mansion of Gen. John Corson Smith, 65 Sibley street, Chicago, Oct. 23d, from early candle light until low twelve. As early candle light is now about five o'clock it allows time for a joyous reception, and the Token advises all who are lucky enough to have an invitation to go.

Grand Encampment.

The Maine Battalion, under the lead of Portland Commandery, started from Portland to Louisville, 98 in number, including ladies, on Saturday afternoon Aug. 14th.

The ceremonies at Louisville commenced Sunday 25th, with religious services in the afternoon at the Broadway Methodist church, Episcopal Bishop Thomas M. Dudley, Gr. Prelate of Kentucky, officiating, and Grand Prelate Cox, of the Grand Encampment, preaching. A great number of guests had arrived and were present.

Ten thousand templars appeared in the procession Tuesday, 27th, and the march must have been a hot one for there were eleven cases of prostration from heat. Part of the Y. M. C. A. reviewing stand broke down, injuring several people slightly. The weather was clear and fine. Columbia Commandery of Washington, D. C., was received with applause and cheers for Admiral Schley. Maine was in the second division.

Col. W. C. P. Breckenridge delivered the chief welcoming address, which was responded to by Grand Master Lloyd.

On Wednesday, 28th, Colorado Commandery of Denver captured the first prize for drill.

In Grand Commandery a minority report was submitted in opposition to Grand Master Lloyd's ruling on dependent membership, but the majority report prevailed and he was sustained, 200 to 50. KING HIRAM LODGE. We have received the history of King Hiram Lodge, No. 57, Dixfield, from its re-establishment in 1872 to October 27, 1896. It is an octavo pamphlet of twenty-five pages. It gives a very good table of the work and a list of members.

October.

Ay, thou art welcome, heaven's delicious breath!
 When woods begin to wear the crimson leaf,
 And suns grow meek, and the meek suns grows brief,
 And the year smiles as it draws near its death.
 Wind of the Sunny South! oh, still delay
 In the gay woods and in the golden air,
 Like to a good old age released from care,
 Journeying in long serenity, away.
 In such a bright, late quiet, would that I Might wear out life like thee, 'mid bowers and brooks,
 And, dearer yet, the sunshine of kind looks,
 And music of kind voices ever nigh;
 And when my last sand twinkled in the glass,
 Pass silently from men, as thou dost pass.
 —[William Cullen Bryant.]

PORTO RICO. Several Royal Arch Masons in San Juan, Porto Rico, have petitioned the General Grand Chapter for a dispensation for a chapter. Col. Charles B. Morton, of Maine, will be High Priest, Byron W. Bates, of New York, King, and George W. Elliott, of Indiana, Scribe.

We have visited the Orphans' and other Masonic Homes in all jurisdictions where they have been established; have examined into their financial and other management, the number and class of inmates contained in each, and have been forced to the conclusion that, with very few exceptions, they have not proven to be the success that their founders had confidently hoped they would be. The enormous amount of money invested in these homes and their management, and the yearly calls for money to supply the deficiencies, it seems to us ought to produce better results than are apparent on the hasty examination we have been able to make. [Daniel McDonald, Indiana Corr.]

We acknowledge, with thanks, an invitation from the Grand Commandery of Michigan to attend a reception at Louisville, August 26th.

From time to time we receive requests to send the Token free to masonic libraries, which we always do, and after sending a few years we get a notice from the Post Master saying, "Refused, left the city," or something of that kind, such as lately came from Lincoln, Nebraska. This makes us think that sometimes, masonic libraries get tired of working.

The Grand Commandery, Grand Chapter and Grand Council of Illinois will meet in Chicago, Oct. 22, 23 and 24.

Grand Secretary Cornelius Hedges, of Montana, favors us with an advance copy of his Grand Lodge Correspondence, which is excellent, as usual.

Our thanks are due to Charles P. Kane, Grand Commander of Illinois, for an invitation to the Illinois reception at Louisville August 27th.

Also to Benj. W. Rowell, Grand Recorder, for a similar invitation to the Mass. and R. I. reception, August 28th.

Also to Wm. S. Rockwell, Grand Recorder, for an invitation to the Georgia "At Home," Aug. 26th to 30th.

There is a clandestine Grand Lodge in Cuba, called El Gran Oriente Nacional de Cuba, which establishes women's lodges and permits the initiation of women.

The July Numismatist, of Monroe, Michigan, has a long article on "The Mark Penny," giving cuts of those used by many chapters, written by B. P. Wright, M. D., of Buffalo, N. Y.

MODEL BY-LAWS.—The addition to Section 117 of the Grand Lodge Constitution, page 46, Proceedings 1900, necessitates a change in the model by-laws in the Article of Membership, Section 41, and any lodge desiring a corrected copy can obtain one by applying to the Grand Secretary.

We were favored with a pleasant call from Bro. Walter H. Young, of Brooklyn, N. Y., on August 13th.

We regret to learn by a letter from Bro. E. T. Schultz that Comp. Geo. L. McCahan, of Baltimore, Grand Secretary of the Grand Chapter of Maryland, has been stricken with paralysis. We trust he will soon recover.

We were honored with a call, August 19th, from the Supreme Grand Master of Canada, David L. Carley, and Past Sup. Gr. Master and present Grand Chancellor, William H. Whyte, who tarried on their way home from the St. John conviave.

We are indebted to Bro. Gil. W. Barnard, Gr. Secretary, for the proceedings at the 46th annual reunion of the Scottish Rite in Chicago, including the excellent speeches at the banquet.

The Antiquity of Man.

Prof. Matthew Flinders Petrie, in a lecture, in London, summed up in a few sentences of intense interest the latest evidence of the antiquity of the human race.

Antiquarians now have to deal with Egypt alone. There is an unbroken chain of historic record from 5,000 B. C., besides actual objects which carry history back 2,000 years further, thus giving 9,000 years to human history; but this is yet far from the beginning. There were traces which showed that civilization must have come from another country, but where no one has the slightest idea. The earliest graves have figures of a race of bushmen of a type discovered similar to those found in France and Malta, proving that the race extended from Africa into Europe. Then there are figures of women who were captured from still earlier races, which probably were of the paleolithic age. Beyond this there was a time when the climate of Egypt was totally different from to-day, when a rainfall fertilized what is now a desert and when animals, of which all trace has been lost, inhabited the country.

Other lands might show the age of man to be more remote by physical evidences but nowhere could we feel more plainly the certainty of the antiquity of man than where 9,000 years' continuous remains did not yet bring us into the vast periods of those climatic and geological changes through which man had kept up the chain of life to the present day.

Every once in a while you hear a good brother, and he is usually a good old veteran, remark about the careless and loose-jointed way doing things masonic now-a-days. He believes what he says; but he is wrong in the idea that things are getting looser in the administration of masonic affairs. Quite the contrary; for the masonic laws are constantly being improved in their applicability and administration. To be convinced of this you have but to read the history of freemasonry for the past hundred years, and previous to that time masonic matters were even more chaotic. Masonry is now building up a code of laws that will be the equal, if not the most complete of that of any government or society in the world, and as closely lived up to.—[Texas Freemason.]
